They were entire successes, and demonstrated to the satisfaction of everybody present that as far as the safe and easy running of the cars were concerned the road was all that could be desired. It took only afteen minutes to go the whole length of the road. It is intended to open the line for traffic on about the let of May, when passengers will be taken up and down town, from one terminus to the other, without making any intermediate stoppages. The mode of propulsion of the cars is an endless chain—in other words and more correctly speaking a wire rope which passes over a drum at either end of the section and runs thence between the rails over which the car moves—the motor being a steam engine underneath the sidewalk at the corner of Greenwich and Franklin streets. To this wire rope there are attached at distance of 150 feet apart small fron uprights or projections running on wheels on a narrow track proyided expressly for the purpose, the rails of which are about sixteen inches apart. He pleased to accept my thanks for the honor you have done me, as well as my regret that I am unable to accept the appointment.

In a democracy like ours I admit the truth of the proposition that every clitzen is bound to render his full share to the public service; but, in this case, it should be considered that I have already devoted five years of my life to service in the interest of the Park, from its very inception down to the time when the plan for laying it out was adopted. During that period the interest of the Park, from its very inception down to the time when the plan for laying it out was adopted. During that period id my best, with the valuable aid of Mears. Belmont and Fields, to improve that plan, and especially to prevent its prodigal waste of the public treasure, and to save the land, which, for its variety of surface is unequalied by any Park in the world, from that extreme artificiality by which it is now disfigured. In many things we succeeded, in others we failed; but our indurers, unfortunately, are now beyond remedy. Not much now remains to be done except to stop the progress of useless and tasteless ornamentation, and to adopt a new system of planting, which will give cool and refreshing shade to the walks and drives. This is the very first necessity of a public park, especially in our climate, and its in this respect that our park, under its late management, is sadiy deficient.

In view of my past services I think you wid admit with me that I am now entitled to be considered an exempt, I have the honor to be, sir, yours, very respectfully.

Madame Blanchard has a soprano voice of conside-Madame Blanchard has a soprano voice or considerable sweetness and high cuitivation, and one better calculated for such a work as the "Ruth and Naomi" than the glittering cavatina from "Otelio." Her school is pure and classical, and as a teacher she must be unexceptionable. George Morgan made one of his greatest successes in a brilliant and artistic rendering of Wely's well known "Offertoire," Suppe's overture to the "Poet and Peasant" and a sparkling arrangement or his own on "The Last Rose of Summer." This success was particularly evidenced in his making an effect with one of the worst organs we have heard in a church for a long time, an affair which can only be designated as a box of whistles, with weak diapason and principal and "screechy" solo stops. Miss Alide Topp played two of her best plano pieces—Chopin's "Scherzo, in B minor" and Liszl's "Rhapsode Hongroise." We have never heard her play so wall before. There was more poetry in her conception of the composer's ideas and electricity in her touch than we gave her credit for. Beneath her fingers the tones of the Steinway grand rolled out with that graduated power and pearly distinctness that botokens the great artist. The performance was brought to a close by Mr. Pierce entering a cage of ilons which showed excellent appetites and a desire to take a stroil among the audience for a tender morsel. THE YUKON RIVER, ALASKA.

Lecture by Captain Raymond, United State Engineers.

The American Geographical and Statistical Society beld its usual monthly meeting last evening at their rooms in the Cooper Institute, President Charles P. Daly in the chair. The council reported a resolution recommending Dr. Hayes to Congress for a new Arctic expedition. A large number of new members were elected. The treasurer reported a balance in the treasury of $782 16. The librarian reported 406 additions to the library. Among the donors were mentioned several scientific societies from abroad and a large number of private gentiemen. Captain Charles W. Raymond, of the United States

Corps of Engineers, was then introduced, and read i paper on the extent and ramifications of the Yukon

paper on the extent and ramifications of the Yukon river, in Alaska Territory, and the general features of our recent acquisition. The Captain began with an account of the appearance of the natives and their manners on his arrival at St. Michaels. Judging from the description, those interesting aborigines will make quite a unique addition to our voting population. In reference to the Esquimaux dog it is asserted that he is not only cowardly, mean and sneaking, but that when no food can be nad he makes quite a satisfactory meal out of a man's only pair of boots. The captain and his party, well provided with ammunition and provisions, started up the river in a small steamer called the Yukon. A journey of over seven days brought them to a place called Amanavoski. The river is very tortuous and filled with sandbars. They passed many Indian villages. The natives live almost wholly on fish, but they were not noticed for that intellectual development which is supposed to accompany this phospherescent diet. They are a very harmless, lamblike, lazy and pusillanimous set of people. The river averages about two miles in width; the right bank, generally speaking, is high, the left low and sandy. Owing to the coldiness of the climate the timber on the hill sides does not attain even medium size. The absence of superstition among the natives was something remarkable; but the tenets of the Christian laith, taught by Russa-dizek missionaries, cannot be said to have taken much hold of the native nind. On that part of the river near Fort Yukon game was abundant and the appearance of the country rather lavorable. After determining the topographical limits of Alaska on the British Canadian side the party ran up the American flag and whisted Yankee Doodle. Taking a general view of the Indians they discovered that the further they went from the coast the better became the character of the people. They spent a month at Fort Yukon, and had a good time thunting and fishing when not otherwise engaged. The journey back to St. Michaels, o river, in Alaska Territory, and the general

A PRIZE FIGHTING FIZZLE.

The Kerriga, 1-Touhe, Match for One Thous and Dollars.

The Former on the Ground . 't Charles Island but the Latter Absent-Kerr the Stakes-Action of the Com. Authorities-Arrest and Incacerati n of the Gang.

The prize fight between the not too well distinguished pugilists, Edward Toubey, of Williamsburg, L. L., and Jim Kerrigan, of the Fourth ward, New York, announced to come off yesterday morning on Charles Island, near Milford, Conn., on Long Island Sound, proved one of the worst and most disastrous fizzles known in the history of the ring. Toubey did not appear on the ground, and when the hour alnot appear on the ground, and when the hour allowed in the articles of agreement for the men to be in the "square circle" as combatants for the baubie in the "square circle" as combatants for the bauble had expired Kerrigan, in conformity with the rules and regulations taid down, claimed the "fight and money," without opposition. This was not the only disappointment experienced, as the rare crowd that was in attendance came to grief by being arrested and imprisoned by the Connecticut authorities for violation of their State laws. The manner in which they were entrapped refered a hyperwises. were entrapped reflects shrewdness, if not courage, on the part of their captors. The inception of the excursion in this city as first planned by the friends of the fighting men, and the details of the eventful day to beroic Connecticut was this:—Kerrigan and his friends in being unable to obtain a boat departed to New Haven in the several ways known on Monday, and that might gave the kim City a benedit it has seldom experienced. Yet, withai, they conducted themselves better than on many similar occasions.

To Milford the way reaserday morning was made at an early hour over a turnpike of rare beauty, and the honest immases of the elegant residences wondered why the irroption of such a gang was inflicted upon taem. Boats were taken without leave or hoense from old flurns, the tax collector of the town, and thus, at last, Charles Island was reached by a hundred or more. So soon as this picturesque spot was reached an imprompta "scrap" was gotten up between the "buffers?" Feddy Neany and Paddy Hottge, of New York, for a purse of forty dollars. They were seconded by the control of the contro some hundred or inore hungry and moneyless were kept off the train, and are here in town unable to get away.

Upon the return of the special train from Bridge-port those captured upon Charles Island were taken to New Haven, arriving at half-past one o'clock. The citizens gave them a right royal reception, and demonstrative juveniles leaped with joy to see such a party, adorned with handcurfs, marching to the station house under such a military escort and pleasant music. All were ledged in the cells—sixteen in each—and it is without doubt that last high they suffered considerably. It is worthy of remark that the Chief of the Police of New Haven practiced partiality in discharging some of his fellow townsmen, while the poor New Yorkers were jostled about without the least regard for their comfort. The penalty for engaging in a prize fight in Connecticut is imprisonment in the State Prison not more than five years, and for being on the ground as a spectator imprisonment for two years. The parties arrested at Fairfield are held for refusing to pay fares and for disturbing the peace. There is still an ugly crowd of the disappointed at Bridgeport, who threaten trouble; but the poince are active and the authorities apprehend no serious difficulty. The tug on which the party of roughs came here has been libelled by the revenue officers for being here without proper papers, and therefore she cannot at present leave. She lies at the Naugatuck wharf. Toubey arrived in New York last night safely and well, walle Kerrigan is lying in jail.

There were 128 deaths in Brooklyn last week, of which number 33 were men, 31 women, 37 boys and 27 girls; 30 were infants under twelve months, and 3 persons of eighty years and upward. Consump tion carried off 22, pneumonia 12, disease of heart s bronentils 8, scariatina 8, diphtheria 3, smallpox 1.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

A stable owned by John Riely, and located on Floyd street, near Gates avenue, was destroyed by fire about one o'clock yesterday morning, involving a loss of $1,000. Insured for $700 in the American Insurance Company. Three working horses which were in the building were braned.

It is currently reported in this city that a delegation of political manipulators left for Albany yesterday for the purpose of obtaining an amendment to the Police bill for the reorganization of the Brookiyn Police Department. What they desire is that the appointing power be vested in the Mayor, Comptrolier and Street Commissioner, instead of the Mayor and Common Council, as ordained by the measure as quoted. The object of this movement is in the interest of the "ring," who are fearful of losing the control in this important matter of patronage should the appointing power be left, as originally provided, with the Mayor. yesterday for the purpose of obtaining an

UNIVERSALISTS' CONVENTION.

PROVIDENCE, April 12, 1870. The centenary of Universalism was observed by the Rhode Island Universalist Convention in this city this afternoon and evening. Charles E. Carpenter was president, and William S. Johnson, Secpenter was president, and william S. Johnson, Secretary. Andresses were made by Rev. E. G. Brooks, of Philadelphia; A. Saxe, of Rochester; Rev. J. M. Pullman, E. C. Bolies, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; J. H. Chapin, of Boston, and others. The Rhode Island proportion of the Murray Centenary Fund was raised, together with several thousand dollars for local denominational purposes.

CRICKET

The negotiations which have been in progres with Wilisher relative to the visit of an Engitsh eleven to this country this fall have unfortunated fallen through, much to the disappointment of all Milen through, much to the disappointment of all American cricketers. A letter was received from Wilsher yesterday, stating that he should not be able to get his men ready before the end of September, which, of course, puts a stop to their visit this year at all. It is expected, however, that acrangements will be made which will enable there to visit the States during the summer of 1871.

In the northern townships of Hudson country the elections were almost unantmous, independent candidates being closen. The Boulevard scheme was voted down by an overwhelming majority.

In Essex Country the republicans carried the Board of Freeholders by 22 to 15 democratic, the Board of Freeholders by 22 to 15 while in Springlield the "people's lickel" gained the day. In Believille a colored man was elected Roadmisser.

In Rahway the entire republican ticket is elected. In Moransrown—hitherto intensely republican—the democrate carried the two Chosen Presholders by a sweeping majority, although some sixty or more negro votes were cast solid for the republicans, under the lead of Mr. John Whitehead. Consequently the democracy are wild wind delight, and the party papers mount any quantity of crowing roosters at their column-heads. The Transfor Charter Relection took place of Monday, and the full returns from the different wards show but a slight discrepancy from the different wards show but a slight discrepancy from the contest was so close in some wards, that the votes had to be counted over several times before the exact result could be attained. The democrate loss the Third and Fourth wards which they counted upon as certain. They elected the Mayor, Superintendent of Public Schools, and secured a majority of one in the Common Council. The republicans elected three out of five in the Board of Chosen Precholders and the Receiver of Taxes, which they regard as a decided victory. The contest, however, was a purely focal one.

The Paranson Charter Election was held on Monday. The republican City Clerk and Excus Commissioners were elected. The democrate retain a majority in the Common Council of ten democrate to eight republicans. There will probably be a republican majority of one in the County Board of Precholders. The negroes voted at all the polis, and at one place, the Third ward, forty-six were marched up and voted the republican tecket in a body.
